

2243 Stroud Hill Road Alison NSW

This unique property has been recently refurbished and is ready for its new occupant. Expressions of interest are invited from all industries, businesses, or individuals.

The property is prepared for a use limited only by your imagination and possibly a Council DA.

Steeped in local history, the original dairy is an interesting feature of this unique property. The leased area has a viewing window of the original dairy bales which makes for interesting conversation and a chance to view what once was one of the largest dairies operating in the region.

Conveniently located on Stroud Hill Road only minutes from Dungog town centre, the premises would ideally be suited to a creative use having separate areas for a workshop/studio and display area.
